Making a complaint about bus services

If you have a complaint about a bus service then contact the operator direct, or if the complaint is about a council subsidised service you should also contact the council.

The Bus Appeals Body, the industry's non-statutory body, can also deal with complaints about operational issues, such as poor reliability, the bus not turning up at all, drivers or other staff being rude, etc. It cannot deal with commercial issues, like fares and service levels, ticketing and timetabling, or routings, nor can it help if the issue has involved the Police or other legal authority. You must always have written to the company first to give them a chance to sort out the issue.

Area 9: Hanham

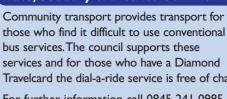

To contact the Bus Appeals Body visit: www.busappealsbody.co.uk or call: (01782) 442855.
