

Joy, music, song and dance returns to Cambrian Green

There was an afternoon of fun and celebration this week as staff at the Cambrian Green Dementia Day Centre organised an event to celebrate Valentines and National Dignity in Care Day.

Attendees of the Dementia Centre enjoyed a buffet lunch with staff and then joined in with a sing-a-long around the piano with Frank - one of the gentlemen who attends the Centre. Poems related to Dignity were recited and there was live entertainment from a Neil Diamond tribute act.

And in recognition of how important each of our attendees and staff is, everyone left with a red rose.

Closing the day's festivities, Centre Manager, Beth Tovey, thanked the team for their efforts over the past months to get the service back up and running after Covid and commented:

"It was truly wonderful to have the Centre filled once again with the sounds of joy, music, song and dance."

"This much needed party has brought the heart and love back to the Centre. I know everyone missed us when we were closed during Covid, but staff worked tirelessly when redeployed to new roles supporting others."

"To return to the Centre with such positivity and motivation to ensure the Service Users enjoyed this social event has brought a true sense of pride back to the Centre once again."
