1. What is a Gambling Act Provisional Statement?

The Gambling Act 2005 ("the Act") provides for a person to make an application to us for a Provisional Statement in respect of premises that s/he:

- expects to be constructed;
- expects to be altered; or
- expects to acquire a right to occupy.

Unlike a Premises Licence application, a person can apply for a Provisional Statement without having an Operating Licence from the Gambling Commission or a right to occupy the premises.

We cannot take into account irrelevant matters such as the likelihood of an applicant obtaining planning permission (or building regulations approval for the proposal) in determining the matter.

As well as providing a level of assurance as to the outcome of a subsequent Premises Licence application (see 4, below), a Provisional Statement also provides the holder with some protection against representations when they make an application for a Premises Licence in relation to the premises for which they hold a Provisional Statement. This is because the Provisional Statement granted will impose restrictions on our ability to refuse a subsequent application for a Premises Licence in respect of the same premises.

2. What do I have to produce in making an application / what Notice provisions do I have to comply with?

Documents to produce

i) The appropriate application form;
ii) The appropriate fee for the application being made;
iii) A Plan of the premises (see 3. for details)

4. What happens once I've been granted a Provisional Statement and I'm ready to start trading?

Once the premises have been built, altered or acquired, the holder of the Provisional Statement should then return to us and apply for a Premises Licence. This application will be treated in a different way to an application by someone who does not hold a Provisional Statement.
When determining whether to grant an application for a Premises Licence in such circumstances, we cannot take into account further representations from responsible authorities or interested parties, unless they concern matters which could not have been addressed at the Provisional Statement stage, or they reflect a change in the applicant’s circumstances.

Similarly, we may refuse the Premises Licence (or grant it on terms different to those attached to the Provisional Statement) only by reference to matters which could not have been addressed in representations at the provisional licence stage, or, in our opinion reflect a change in the operator’s circumstances.

If we do not think that the premises were constructed or altered in accordance with the plans and information submitted with the application for the Provisional Statement, then the restrictions of the two paragraphs above are no longer applicable.

Notes of guidance for Premises Licences can be downloaded from the South Glos website.
